Listen to the recording and match the people (A−D) to the opinions (1−6). You will hear the recording twice.

Debbie:  Hi Bill, hi Paul. Why are you both standing out here?
Bill:  Hi Debbie. The police are here. I think Suzanne's house might have been burgled.
Debbie:  Oh, you can't be serious!
That's the third burglary in this neighbourhood in two months!
Paul:  Well, I think you're wrong, Bill – it can't have been burgled; I've been here all day. I didn't see or hear anything!
Bill:  Well, something must have happened, Paul. The police have been here for an hour.
Debbie:  Oh look, they're leaving now. There's Suzanne – let's ask her! Suzanne, what's going on?
Suzanne:  Ugh ... burglars broke into the house while I was at work. They must have been searching for my valuables.
Debbie:  Actually, Suzanne. I might have seen something.
Suzanne:  What did you see, Debbie?
Debbie:  A strange van on the street last night. It might have been the burglars!
Bill:  That reminds me! I saw a man taking photos on the street last week. He looked like he could have been a burglar.
Suzanne:  Could you describe him to the police, Bill?
Bill:  Yes, I think so.
Suzanne:  By the way, do you remember what kind of van it was, Debbie?
Debbie:  Yes, more or less.
Paul:  Well, we really ought to start taking precautions ourselves. There should be someone to keep an eye on the houses in the neighbourhood 24 hours a ...
Bill:  Just a minute, Paul – the policeman's back!
Narrator:  Now listen again.

Narrator:  Part 2
Listen to the recording and choose the correct answer, A, B, or C. You will hear the recording twice.

Officer:  Right everyone – this house is a crime scene and nobody should enter until we've finished looking for evidence. I'm bringing a team to check for fingerprints and footprints.
Suzanne:  Will you catch them, officer?
Officer:  We're going to do all we can to catch these criminals. This neighbourhood has become a trouble spot and if it makes the headlines, there'll be really bad press. We can't let that happen. By the way, were any of you witnesses to this crime?
Bill:  Well, I may have seen something. There was a man here last week taking pictures of the houses.
Officer:  What did he look like?
Bill:  He had blond hair, a tattoo on his right arm and ...
Officer:  Just a minute, that sounds like the suspect from last week! I need to see if he's got an alibi. Did anyone see anything else?
Suzanne:  Well, Debbie saw a mysterious van on the street last night.
Officer:  What kind of van was it?
Debbie:  It was blue, I think!
Officer:  It could have been the same man – he's got a blue van. We've still not got enough proof to send him to prison, though. We must wait until we've got fingerprints or DNA.
Narrator:  Now listen again.
